

Grayling Airport To Be One of Country's Largest

At Random

It looks as tho the columnists
just about run the war.

That may be the reason for so many conflicting opinions.

Every piece of scrap is a souvenir for Adolph.

—and a bomb for Benito and a lap for the Jap!

Don't let up on that scrap drive.

Search from "stern to stern".
You'll find plenty of scrap material if you dig out odd places.

We'll be hearing the school bell
again soon.

A number of our former teachers have been called back into the schoolroom.

Maybe they will get back to teaching readin', ritin' and rithmatic.

Teach children to modulate their voices—more lovely than a beautifully molded face.

And sitting in a chair is more graceful and graceful than sitting on a chair.

They don't teach these things
in school any more.

That may not be essential in education but they make education much easier.

Personality isn't taught in colleges but it is one of the most valuable characteristics one may have.

The machine gun company of the Michigan state troops did a lot of rat-a-tatting here last week end.

Stephens says "Hitler won't let you hang me."

What'll you bet, Ol' Top?

Calling the Huns and Japs names doesn't hurt them any,
but—

It's kind of a good feeling anyway, isn't it?

Leave For Army
Induction Center

The following Crawford county
young men left Wednesday by chartered bus for Detroit for examination by Army physicians previous to being inducted into the U. S. Army.

George A. Harrison, who has been in Detroit, but who came to Grayling to leave.

Laudy W. Harrison of Flint, who also left from Grayling.

Norman H. Feldhauser.

Olis C. Feldhauser (volunteer).

Don Gothro. The latter is a volunteer officer candidate and will soon enter Officer's Training School.

Bruno Sachet was transferred to Detroit for induction.

John S. Maze to Niagara Falls.

Richard D. Lewis to Newport,
Iowa.

Ervin C. Duncley and William G. Mosher, who were scheduled with this quota have previously enlisted in the Navy and Paul E.
Hendrickson enlisted in the Army.

700 ACRES TO BE ADDED TO PRESENT AREA

Present plans of the army include the enlargement of Grayling airport to more than double its present size. Surveying is now going on and will soon be completed and steps taken giving official right of entry.

The present plans will include taking in the land for a half mile east and a half mile south. In this area are the National Log Construction Co. factory, warehouses, offices, in fact the entire plant, which will have to be moved;
and the James McDonnell home. When completed the airport will total 1 1/2 miles square.

Improvements in the airport
have been going on for the past year, considerably enlarging it, leveling off high spots, building
two new runways and other features. Now, according to the present plans, the airport will again undergo further enlarging and improvement. According to good authority this will be one of Michigan's largest and finest airports in the very near future.

State Troops Train At Camp Grayling

A contingent of Michigan State
Troops were in training at Camp Grayling over the week end. This time they were here for machine gun practice, and they kept the ranges busy with their machine gun rattle.

About 500 men and officers composed the group. Next Friday and each week as long as weather permits, this organization will continue its training
here.

There are rumors of large bodies of troops coming here soon. This may be true but we have no definite information confirming the report.

Activities at the airport indicate still further enlargement.
That apparently will take in the area on the east side of the highway, necessitating a change in route of highway U. S. 27, which will probably be some distance further east, coming out in the vicinity of the Pines Park corner.
This is only what is being talked about town but is not to be taken for a fact until it has been more definitely determined.

Crawford County Draft Board

fine new American flag that was played in front of the draft office each day.

the Board is a past commander of the local post and also served as 10th district committeeman.

The Atlantic Charter

The President of the United States and the Prime Minister, Mr. Churchill, representing His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, have met at sea.

The President and the Prime Minister have had several conferences. They have considered the dangers to world civilization arising from the policies of military domination by conquest upon which the Hitlerite government of Germany and other governments associated therewith have embarked, and have made clear the steps which their countries are respectively taking for their safety in the face of these dangers.

They have agreed on the following Declaration:

The President of the United States of America and the Prime Minister, Mr. Churchill, representing His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, being met together, deem it right to make known certain common principles in the national policies of their respective countries on which they base their hopes for a better future for the world.

FIRST, Their countries seek no aggrandizement, territorial or other;

SECOND, They desire to see no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned;

THIRD, They respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live; and they wish to see sovereign rights and self-government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them;

FOURTH, They will endeavor, with due respect for their existing obligations, to further the enjoyment by all States, great or small, victor or vanquished, of access, on equal terms, to the trade and to the raw materials of the world which are needed for their economic prosperity;

FIFTH, They desire to bring the fullest collaboration between all nations in the economic field with the object of securing, for all, improved labor standards, economic adjustment and social security;

SIXTH, After the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny, they hope to see established a peace which will afford to all nations the means of dwelling in safety within their own boundaries, and which will afford assurance that all the men in all the lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want;

SEVENTH, Such a peace should enable all men to traverse the high seas and oceans without hindrance;

EIGHTH, They believe that all of the nations of the world, for realistic as well as spiritual reasons, must come to the abandonment of the use of force. Since no future peace can be maintained if land, sea or air armaments continue to be employed by nations which threaten, or may threaten aggression outside of their frontiers, they believe, pending the establishment of a wider and permanent system of general security, that the disarmament of such nations is essential. They will likewise aid and encourage all other practicable measures which will lighten for peace-loving peoples the crushing burden of armaments.

Last Friday afternoon several members of Grayling Chamber of Commerce went to Traverse City where they broadcast over radio WTCM for 45 minutes.
They told of some of the attractions of our city, its industries, its schools, churches, places of interest and of the fine hospitality that is always extended to visitors here. Earl Burns and George Granger gave a report of the visit and said that they had learned many things about radio broadcasting that was interesting and good to know.

Others with the visiting committee were Ernie Borchers, president, and Floyd
Davis, secretary of the C. of C.
These broadcasts are by communities over that station and take place each Friday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

Bond Sales Committee Doing Good Job

RETAIL MERCHANTS CO- OPERATING NEARLY 100%

It looks as tho the retail merchants of Crawford county fully sense the seriousness of the war
situation and the need for money to run it. From all parts of the county good reports are rolling in.

Crawford county's quota is heavy and it's going to take a lot of Crawford county money to keep it up. $9,601 is a lot of money to raise each month. It can only be done by everyone helping. When getting your change at the store, take part of it in war savings stamps. If everyone would pay in a dime a day, that would pretty nearly take care of the quota. Crawford county went slightly over the top last month but the going seems a little harder this month, so it's going to be the dime-a-day stamp purchasers who must be depended upon.

Any retailer anywhere in the county who hasn't received details about the official program which the State committee has developed, is urged to contact his local chairman for full information. The retail sales chairman for Crawford county is Wilhelm
Rae. His assistants are Farnham Mason, postoffice employee in Grayling, and Harley Russell.
Apply to either of these men for particulars.

And the general public is requested to get war savings stamps from their merchants. If he doesn't have a supply, perhaps another store will be able to sell you stamps. Buy at least one stamp every day. You will be surprised to find how easy it is to get enough to buy a bond.
Bonds pay interest. And after this war is over and the government isn't so drastically in need of money, you will have a nice nest egg to fall back on.

Make this one of your slogans—
"Buy a war savings stamp every day."

Has 'Finest Honey'

Our old friend F. J. Mills, formerly of Grayling but now of
"Honey Hollow" farm at Bellaire,
says:

Trust everything is booming in the good city of Grayling. Here at Honey Hollow we are very busy taking off the new season's crop of the finest honey you have ever eaten, and a wonderful crop of peaches, with that delicious flavor that only the far-north kind carry, is just ready to take off within a week or ten days.

When over this way, stop and see us.

Cordially,

F. J. Mills.

Ship's Galleys Produce Fats For Explosives

Cooks of Great Lakes steamers are turning in cooked fats from their galleys as their ships pass
the Soo locks. D. J. McDermott, chairman of the household fats
section of the Salvage Committee of the Chippewa County Council of Defense, has arranged with the U. S. Steel Company fleet for salvage of the cooking fats, badly needed now for glycerine used in manufacture of explosives.

This material has previously been thrown overboard and wasted.
It is estimated that the 120 steamers of the Steel fleet will produce about 6,000 pounds a week. Arrangements with the Lake Carriers association are expected to produce from 40,000 to 60,000 pounds of fats weekly from other ships. Collections are being made at Sault Ste. Marie.

Asks Public Help

The Pontiac Council of Defense
has asked the citizens of that city to contribute to their own protection by furnishing tools and equipment to be used in fire fighting and air raid protection. The council points out that it is unable to finance purchases of essential material and reminds the public that thousands of volunteers are serving to protect the city against war peril, but are without fire-fighting, rescue or demolition tools.

Truckers Offer Help

Twelve trucking concerns in Battle Creek have offered the use of all their equipment to haul salvage to production centers.

Reynolds Family Picnic Reunion

Fried chicken, served by Archie Kennedy, popular Grayling lum-berjack cook, was the main attraction at the Reynolds family picnic-reunion held at Budd Lake Wilson State Park at Harrison
on Sunday, August 9th.

Nearly forty members attended and among them were: Mrs.
James Reynolds, oldest member of the group; Mr. and Mrs. Leland Smock and sons Jerry Jo and Bob; Mrs. Archie Kennedy and James Reynolds, Jr., all of Grayling; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Reynolds and son David Charles, Mr.
and Mrs. Claude Reynolds, Mr.
and Mrs. Ellis Orr, and Mrs.
Thomas O'Brien, all of Muskegon Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Green, Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Ostling and sons David Charles and Johnnie, of Roscommon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Raimo and daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Phillips
of Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Don Reynolds and children Junior,
Joan and Jeannine of Clare.

Guests at the reunion included
Miss Thelma Gould of Muskegon Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hall
of Mt. Pleasant and Mrs. Annie Rogers of Clare.

Of special interest to all relatives attending was the first meeting of Mrs. James Reynolds and her great grand-daughter and namesake Mary Jane Orr, of Muskegon Heights.

Plans were discussed to make this gathering an annual affair.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cavanaugh of Standish have announced the engagement of their daughter Thelma, to Albert Markby, son of Mrs. Albert Markby of Grayling. Thelma is in training for attendant at Mercy Hospital. There is no date as yet set for the wedding.

Put Fires Out

According to the United States
Forest Service, careless campers caused 200 fires in the forests of Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota last year, destroying timber needed soon after the attack on Pearl Harbor December 7.

This year the state and federal forest agencies are asking for special cooperation in avoiding such fires. Even last year 23 million board feet of lumber went into war production. This year much more than that will be needed, and carelessness with fire amounts to sabotage.

To all campers this warning is issued:

"Don't break camp until your fire is out—completely out. Stir the coals while soaking them with water. Turn sticks and drench both sides. Wet the ground around the fire. Be sure the last spark is dead."

No Boys Club Needed

Alpena has one of the largest and best managed Boys' clubs of any city in Michigan. In it are some of Alpena's best boys, and the club is managed by some of Alpena's best men. It does seem that with all these inducements held out to the youth of that city that standards among young boys should be of the highest. We believe in these things. To be able to help to guide the destinies of young boys is a privilege. Successful men should divide some of their spare time in this work. Give your boys the advantage of your experience and training. Men have traveled along highways in which there are signposts that point to various goals. That some men have been successful probably is due to guidance that has been given them by elders and to their personal initiatives. All that makes us believe that boys clubs in communities should be the maximum of good for young boys. However, we were quite shocked to read Al Weber's article in last week's Cheboygan Observer. He had this to say:

"Alpena youth not only steal tires, things out of cars, everything that's left lying around out of doors or indoors, run away with cars, and carry on a kind of city and community terrorism obliging people to keep everything under lock and key and best under guard, but they have stolen the sand bags and the sand in them placed around a bond sale booth down town. It isn't a Boys' club they need down there, but a father and mother club to acquaint parents with the need of setting an example, taking care of the kids, and really functioning as father and mother should and not delegate the bringing up of those kids to the Boys' Club."

It is hard to believe that such a condition could exist in a fine community like Alpena.

WOMAN ON VACATION DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Mrs. Bertha Mae Boszor, age 51 years, of Kendallville, Ind., passed away suddenly at Higgins Lake State park, at 1:00 o'clock Tuesday morning, where she and her husband had pitched their tent the night before. Dr. M. A. Marzowka of Roscommon, who was called; pronounced death due to coronary thrombosis. The remains were brought to the Sorenson Funeral home and the body removed to Kendallville.

Cox-Parkinson

Miss Betty Parkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Parkinson, was united in marriage to Ruse Cox of Frederic.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Parkinson, of 911 Fitzhugh st., Bay City. The pastor of the Latter Day Saints church performed the ceremony Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

The bride wore a street length dress of light blue with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parkinson of Saginaw were the attendants.

After the wedding a reception was held in the dining room of the home.

Looking Ahead

By Dr. George S. Benson
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

The current clamor for "planned economy" brings recollections of sights in the Orient once familiar to me. In China where swallowing patent medicine is a mark of distinction and a proof of wealth, business is good for cure-all vendors but the average span of life there is 16 years, according to best available data.

The drug peddler hawking his poison used to be a common sight anywhere in China. At street corners, in shops and on trains he shouted at the top of his voice, praising his worthless wares. Brands changed endlessly but medical missionaries with knowledge of the nostrums knew they differed but little.

All were four pain-killers (deceitfully stimulating for a short while) never able to help any customer's ailment. They were like the many brands of socialism peddled in America from time to time; false stimulants, fine until you find out they are no good. These also differ chiefly as to trade-marks which have gone definitely collegiate in the last few years.

Just comparing the bottles, who would guess that (1) "One big union," (2) "Share the wealth," (3) "Thirty dollars a Thursday," and (4) "Planned economy," all were prescribed for the same ailment? They were, and all of them pointed to socialism and dictatorship.

"Full-time employment for everybody at high wages after the war, same as now, and permanent prosperity for all!" These are the claims made for "planned economy." But analysis shows up the same ingredients that smelled so rank in magic bottles discarded long ago: restricted sales, controlled production, prescribed territories, pegged prices, and rigged markets. Taking inventory in Pandora's box of plagues would scarcely produce a more imposing list of public enemies.

It is pointed out that "planned economy" is what made Nazi Germany a formidable enemy; Soviet Russia so gallant an ally. Actually both these countries grew sinuous on enforced work, so hard that it made simple necessities like eating and sleeping seem marvelous luxuries. Hard work and simple pleasures also made the United States great, but Americans took their tonic straight, for love of liberty and independence. The big difference is that Germans and Russians got loyalty, long hours and low wages, (disguised with political bromides) shoved down their necks in horse-doses by dictatorial force.

This is a war of working men. Soldiers at the front win battles today in proportion as they are supplied with ships and planes, tanks and guns by workers at home. The American worker fights the Nazi worker as positively as the American soldiers in Egypt fight the Nazi soldiers. It's a struggle between want and have-to, a test whether free men will make voluntary sacrifices enough to defeat a force that enslaves other men. Study these figures:

WHO IS WELL OFF?
An Hour
If your job today pays 72c
The same job in 1929 paid 54
In England today, it pays 24
In Germany today, it pays 18

Why is the American workman paid so much more? . . . Because he is worth that much more.

Why is the American workman worth that much more? . . . Because he produces proportionately more.

How does the American produce so much more? . . . Wealth created under our system of free enterprise has been used to supply him fine tools and modern machinery.

Current developments show that Americans must sacrifice keenly and willingly if the advantages of the American way are to be preserved. When Victory comes to America it will be because America workmen (soldiers of field and factory) have out-produced all others, because the Axis powers have potentially twice as many war workers as the Allies.

If you have anything to sell that some other family may want, our want ads will sell it for you, and the cost is almost nothing. Try it sometime.

August 1st Recipe Service

(From Michigan State Apple Commission, Lansing, Michigan)

Wartime Michigan Apple Jam

If you're worried about sugar rationing, here's a delicious apple jam that has been specially designed for wartime cooking. Uses a remarkably small amount of sugar, is easy to make and tastes WONDERFUL!

Apple Jam

4 pounds Michigan apples
Rind and juice of two lemons
2 pounds white corn syrup
2 pounds sugar
10 cloves
1 teaspoon ground ginger

Wash, peel, core and cut Michigan apples into slices. Place in a preserving kettle with sugar and syrup, rind and juice of the lemons, ginger, and cloves. Boil from 1½ to 2 hours. Put in sterilized glasses and seal.

Variation: Use same recipe, using two pounds of red cherries and two pounds of Michigan apples. This is an equally delightful combination.

Recipe tested by Dorothy W. Lewis, home economist, Michigan State Apple Commission.

Apple Ginger

Michigan Apple Ginger is another good wartime recipe. Pare, core and chop four pounds of tart Michigan apples. Wash four lemons, remove seeds and chop. Melt two pounds of sugar and one ounce of white ginger and add this syrup to apples and lemons. Cook very slowly for six hours stirring frequently to prevent scorching. Pour in sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin.

Dry Sweet Corn Grandma Style

War brings back some of the kitchen maneuvers that grandmother practiced and one of the tricks is the drying of sweet corn.

That suggestion comes from Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State College. There are other means of preserving sweet corn and other vegetables for winter use, but the oldtime way is called quite practical.

Victory Gardeners who have an excess of sweet corn should put some away for winter use. The winter supply will taste good and will relieve some of the coming problems of war transportation, sponsors point out.

In grandmother's time, sweet corn was dried in the kitchen range. Modern stoves with regulators make the process simpler. Oven doors are left open to promote air circulation. Some housewives aim an electric fan at the oven door to hasten drying at fairly low temperatures.

Miss Hershey's recipe for dried corn, in brief, suggests taking any good table corn, husking and removing any blemishes or darkened kernels. The corn is precooked, on the cob, in boiling water for 8 to 12 minutes. Steaming is even better than cooking in water, and this process requires about 10 minutes.

Then the corn is drained and cooled and cut off the cobs. The cut corn should be spread from a half to three-quarters of an inch deep on a tray. Temperatures for drying should range between 125 and 160 degrees. Too rapid drying hardens the outside of the kernels while the centers remain too moist. Oven drying may require five to six hours or longer. Even after that the corn should be dried further in the open, covered with cheesecloth to keep out insects. Storing for winter use can be in glass jars, coffee cans or stone crocks. A strip of muslin dipped in hot paraffin helps seal the tops of cans or crocks.

SHE'S 111—AND "TOO TOUGH TO DIE"

Hearty centenarian's explanation of why she's "young" interests scientists, even though their curiosity about her rules of living don't interest her, it will be revealed in an extraordinary article by Dr. Leonard Keene Hirschberg, director-in-chief of Institute for Medical Research, in The American Weekly with next Sunday's (August 16) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

LANSING WHISPERS: A grand jury investigation into state affairs is a possibility for early Fall, according to rumors from Detroit. Gasoline rationing is still considered inevitable, probably after the election. Governor Van Wagener's campaign for re-election will be based publicly on retirement of the state's "long-standing $27,000,000,000 deficit, a sound financial administration, ending graft in state purchasing, establishing a sound civil service commission and a consolidated revenue department, wiping out present waiting lists on old-age assistance and liberalizing the state's social programs, opening idle state mental hospitals and adequate care for the crippled and afflicted." (Quotation from statement on filing of re-nomination petitions).

"EMOTIONAL YEAR": The key to the 1942 primary and election, will be the war. If the war is going badly as it is today, watch out! If the tide turns, voters will be more cheerful, less in a mood to kick someone in the pants.

But generally speaking, 1942 is already tagged an "emotional year." That means that emotions rather than reason may dictate the outcome at the polls.

If this trend continues, it will favor Radio Orator, Gerald Smith, lieutenant of the late Huey Long, as against Elton R. Eaton and Judge Homer Ferguson for the Republican nomination of the United States Senate.

HARRY F. KELLY, secretary of state, will wage a vigorous campaign after the September primary. For the first time in many moons there is no contest for the Republican nomination to the governorship. But that isn't any sign of inactivity or disinterest.

Both Van Wagener and Kelly are shying away from an all-out stand on the home rule and constitutional convention ballots. The governor's Detroit support centered around the courthouse organization which would be adversely affected by the proposed home rule. Farmers are opposing the constitutional convention, while labor is favoring it.

MOBILIZING MANPOWER: It's one of the coming problems as the nation makes further adjustments to meet demands of army and navy for upwards of 9,000,000 men by the end of 1943. War factories were employing 6,900,000 persons last January 1. By next January 1 the total of workers in war plants may reach 20,000,000.

As Michigan employment planners see it, women will have to be recruited for war plant service or men will have to be brought here from other states. The hitch is the post-war relief load.

SIX BILLIONS: Airplane awards to Michigan industry already total this staggering astronomical sum, while other ordnance contracts near the dizzy heights of nine billion dollars.

It's too much for wage-earners to comprehend. It means a near zero for unemployment in the state, a high level of prosperity for hundreds of thousands of families.

FOOD FOR FREEDOM: Michigan farmers have been called upon to increase their output of certain foods needed for victory. And it is being done on the voluntary, democratic system, not the Nazi slave system.

The government has set a Michigan goal of eight per cent more milk production, eight per cent more eggs, nine per cent more hogs and 56 per cent more soybeans for 1942 over 1941.

In Michigan, 127,826 farmers participated in the 1940 AAA conservation program to conserve soil fertility while increasing food production.

SECOND FRONT: When the casualty lists arrive and thousands of Michigan sons are listed among the wounded or dead, then an important test of the "Second front" will come. Whether a front is established this year on the continent of Europe with Russia still in the fight, or next year with Russia possibly knocked out, the military action cannot be made without severe sacrifice of life. Will those who now demand loudly for opening of a second front uphold the government when the American losses mount? Here is a neat problem in public morale.

A UNITED FRONT at home is essential if we are to have a successful front abroad. Schuyler L. Marshall, editor-publisher of the Clinton County Republican-News and an ardent isolationist before Pearl Harbor, expressed this sentiment editorially two weeks ago.

"If we cannot win this war before China and Russia fall, we may see them at least passively allied with our enemies. Don't say it can't happen. It has happened in France, Norway, and a dozen other nations of Europe. This war is not a political campaign. It is a life-and-death affair."

ORGANIZED LABOR, with its jurisdictional squabbles, is speeding up union of the C.I.O. and A.F.L.

Hitler invited labor leaders to celebrate May Day in 1933, but on May 2 he abolished all labor unions. Mussolini's fascism was financed by industrialists of the north and Junker landowners of the South. It outlawed labor unions. There is no collective bargaining, no strikes, no walk-outs permitted in Italy.

Democracy's freedom can also become its weakness. A united front by labor is imperatively needed for victory.

GUARDIAN OF LIBERTY: One of the first acts of Hitler and Mussolini was suppression of a free press. A few years ago President Nicholas Murray Butler observed:

"Nothing could possibly emphasize more strongly the vital importance of a free press than the absence of any free press today in a majority of the nations of this modern world. There are abuses of a free press, no doubt, but they are unimportant in comparison with the absence of a free press."

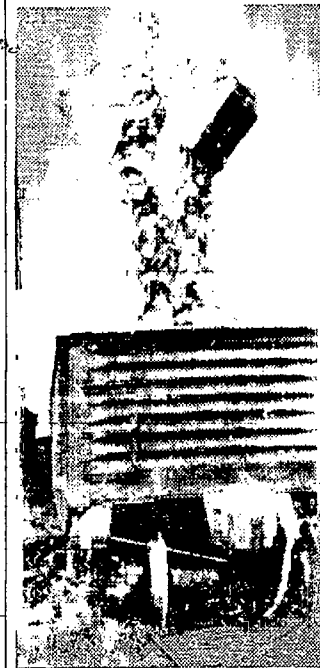

The newspaper today is the guardian of liberty, the last stronghold of democracy. When a free press goes, democracy goes with it.

Looking Ahead

By Dr. George S. Benson
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Only a few years ago, industrious self-reliance was considered a typical American virtue. It penetrated deeply the character of America's early settlers. It inspired their sons to cross the Appalachians and develop a huge continent's rich interior in record time. America became the world's most influential nation as result of many adventurous tests for religious liberty, political freedom and economic independence.

But Americans are not pioneers now in the same sense they were when the country was being explored and subdued. Millions enjoy this nation's freedom today who had nothing to do with making it free. Many of us do not appreciate our liberties because we don't know how it feels to be without them. And, since freedom is an abstract possession, impossible to touch or taste, we forget that we might be robbed of it.

Long departed pioneers, ancestors perhaps, obtained three cardinal liberties for themselves and for us. They were (1) the right to worship, (2) the right to work and (3) the right of self-government. They bought these things with hardhood, hardship and hard work, but we got them without all the hard things. Now the burning question is: Can Americans still take the hardness and, if not, where will it put us?

The fact can not be disputed that many modern Americans love luxury and hate hardship. Ingenious governmental make-shifts, devised in the early 1930's to ease the pains of willing workers who could find no job (devices like the W.P.A., the N.Y.A. and the "late demented" CCC) degenerated into pauper-pampering political gravy-trains in some communities before they were two years old. By 1936, America's swarm of idle poor had dwarfed and eclipsed the little colony of idle rich, bugaboo of the previous generation.

It is hard to believe our frugal forebears, poor but proud, quit their prairie schooners, built their sturdy cabins and spawned a spend-thrift generation, destitute but dignified. That appears to be what took place. Year after year, national relief agencies have gone in debt for every penny of their outlay. Annual increase in national indebtedness always exceeds total appropriations for relief. All our "social gains" have been bought with borrowed money. We still owe for 100% of them. So far, no date has been set to start catching up. And the national debt grows $100,000,000 larger each day.

Instead of leaving something valuable for future generations, as our hardy grandfathers did, our age promises posterity an economic headache no aspirin will relieve. This would be discreditable enough if America were not at war and had no reconstruction to anticipate. But the acute problems of war—our luxury-loving people permit the United States to weather the storm of post-war economy? Will it demand to be maintained in the manner to which it is accustomed until the final federal farthing has been frittered away?

If public patronage between 1930 and 1940 so softened this generation's pride that it would buy personal luxuries and wish the debt upon its children, can we suddenly develop fortitude and undergo the necessary inconveniences to preserve the American way of life?

Can we start now as in 1789 with a victorious, impoverished democracy and groom it again for leadership? Will we loyally pay our honest debts and preserve a foundation for free competitive enterprise and constitutional government? Undoubtedly some will choose the easy way as long as it lasts, and prefer coasting to dictatorship and political slavery in some form of socialistic boggyland.

Is it not enough to leave posterity in debt for America's sloth of the 1930's, or must we go a step further and sell our children into serfdom? What will this pernicious relief psychology do for representative government and free enterprise? Saving freedom and prosperity will be no one man's job, be he Hercules, Paul Bunyan, or Harold Ickes.

Are you entitled to wear a "target" label? You are if you are investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. It's your badge of patriotism.

Dr. Howell Moves
Office To Saginaw

A letter from Mr. Don Howell gives his new location as being 506 Wiechmann Building at the corner of Genesee and Jefferson, Saginaw. Dr. Howell was formerly located at Alma. His skill in the treatment of the eye, ear, nose and throat and eye surgery has been so pronounced that larger centers have been demanding his services. Almost weekly he is called to assist in clinics at the U. of M. hospital. He felt that Saginaw offered a more central and accessible location for the convenience of his patients.

Dr. Howell was at one time associated in Grayling with Dr. Keyport and is well known here. He has a large number of eye refraction cases in Grayling and says that he has all records in his office at Saginaw for those who may need glasses.

We are sure he didn't intend that we print all this about him, but we are proud of his success and want others to know it.

There will be a navy recruiter in West Branch on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week. The recruiting station will be located in the West Branch Community hall.

Dogs Sense Air Raids

In the days when Madrid was becoming a rubble heap, air-raid warnings were sounded according to the dogs. Soon after the beginning of the siege it was discovered that a full half-hour before the farthest outposts had any warning of an approaching raid, practically every dog in the city howled, trembled and hid. As the dogs were never wrong, the air-raid warnings were regularly sounded according to their actions. This gave the people an extra half-hour's leeway.

Letters from Camp

Dos Palos, Calif.
 August 4, 1942

Dear Editor:

I'm at a new address now, as you can see. I thought we were apt rather busy at Santa Ana, it compared to this place it's a st cure. Our day runs from 5:15 m. to 9:30 p. m., without much of a letup in between. The best break is from 7:30 to 9 p. m., which is study period. That is the time everybody writes letters or reads or (rarely) studies. The important thing is that everybody must be in the study room during this time. I got 100 on my first power plants test, and 95 in navigation, so maybe that isn't too bad.

We put in three hours a day in ground school, and six hours on the flight line. There are six of us in an instructor, so most of the time is spent in waiting until it is time to go up. During this time most fellows study some, so the study period at night can be used for something else.

The buildings are typical hot-weather-country construction, well made, air-conditioned. The beds have inner-spring mattresses, but are a lot harder to make up than the steel cots we had at Santa Ana. The barracks are each laid out in an L with the shower room at the apex and each wing divided by lockers into two rooms. Each room has eight men, and at the far end of each wing is the study room for the men in that wing.

The last few days have been pretty hot, although they say it sometimes goes up around 115 degrees or more. Nights are cool, especially in the very early morning. I haven't seen it rain since June 7, in Chicago. But I suppose in the fall and winter it rains all the time. The most amazing thing about California is the profusion of flowers in town—sometimes in bushes, trees or just ordinary flowers—they seem to bloom everywhere. There are a lot of orange groves too, all laid out in neat, orderly rows.

The first time you see the area from the air it's hard to pick out where anything is or recognize things on the ground, but after a few times it gets easier to distinguish objects. I can even tell where the airport is most of the time. There is a certain way to fly out of the field, and to enter the pattern for coming in—more things to remember and get right.

The Avalanche keeps coming and it almost seems like being back on the job again just to read it. I even spotted a couple of typographical errors that slipped past Nola.

That's about all the time I have now, so I'll close with best wishes for everyone at the shop, and for all my other Grayling friends.

Yours truly,
 Ivan Rice

 August 4, 1942

Dear Mr. Schumann:

Have been in the army for eight weeks and have now finally found a few spare moments to write a few lines and let you know where another Grayling fellow has landed in the greatest army in the world. I arrived here in the great Southwest after a thirty-six hour train ride from Fort Custer and upon arriving here at the Replacement Training Center of the Field Artillery we started our basic training which, at the end of thirteen weeks, we will be efficient, trained soldiers and ready to go out, and do the job which is to be done before we can return to civilian life again. I first was assigned to a battery here where I received instruction in drilling, then to another battery where rifle and gas instructions were given, and finally assigned to the 8th Regiment which is the "specialists" regiment and is where I will remain for the rest of my training period, and receive training as a battery clerk.

Surrounding Fort Sill, one of the oldest army posts in the southwest, are many interesting points, among them being the Wichita Mountains, which are clearly visible from the Post. The sprawling Wichitas extend for nearly one hundred miles to the west and are one of the beauty spots of the Southwest. A trip to the highest of these mountains, Mount Scott, is a breath-taking scenic view which will make anyone write home about. Also located in the Wichita Mountains is the great Wichita wildlife refuge, which is owned and maintained by the U. S. Biological Survey, and covers an area of 62,000 acres and contains 80 lakes. At this refuge one can see herds of long-horned cattle and buffalo for which the West is remembered. Just seven miles northwest of Fort Sill is Medicine Park and Lake Lawtonka, a large artificial lake which provides a reservoir for the Fort Sill and Lawton, Okla., water supply. Medicine Park provides recreational facilities for speedboat rides, swimming, or roller-skating. To the east of the Post a hundred miles is Oklahoma City and the great oil fields of the west.

In closing I want to thank the USO for the lovely supper and send-off they gave the draftees of Crawford county in June and it will long be remembered by the boys who left with me. Also to thank the American Legion Post for the little booklet which not only made interesting reading material on the train but contains many things and tips to help the soldiers over the rough spots.

Bomb 'em with JUNK

Let's blast Japan—and Germany—and Italy—with the chain lightning of destruction that can be built from the scrap in our cellars, attics and garages, on our farms and in our places of business.

Scrap iron and steel, other metals, rubber and waste materials. It will all be used to make tanks, ships, planes and the fighting weapons our boys must have. It is needed at once.

Sell it to a Junk dealer—give it to a charity or collection agency—take it yourself to the nearest collection point—or consult the Local Salvage Committee... If you live on a farm, and have found no means of disposing of your Junk, get in touch with the County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

Soap A Mistake

Soaping a fresh fruit stain discovered on table linen or clothes is a mistake, but prompt action with proper methods is not, advise members of the home economics extension service at Michigan State College.

Conservation of fabrics has become a wartime measure, which means that removal of fruit stains is also a part of Michigan's wartime economy.

Start working on stains while they are still fresh and damp, if possible, the authorities suggest. In any case, remove them before laundering the fabric.

Algalis, such as in soap, and heat from the iron "set" some fruit and berry stains, making them difficult and sometimes even impossible to get out.

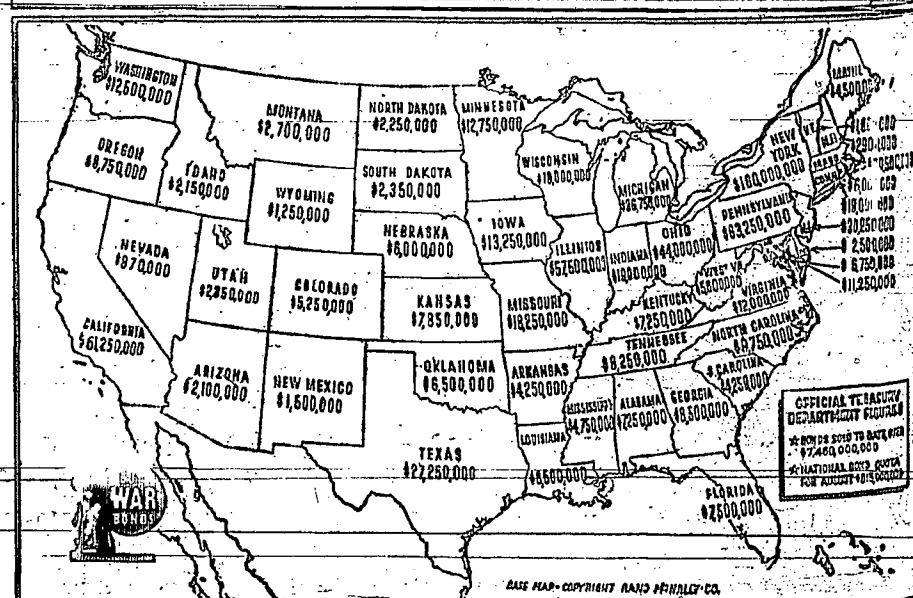

Boiling water will remove fruit stains from white or colorfast cottons or linens. Stretch the stained cloth over a bowl, and fasten with a string so it cannot slip off. Then pour on the water from a height of three or four feet. If necessary, rub the fabric between applications of boiling water, to help loosen the stain. Sometimes even warm water will work successfully in removing a stain.

If the stain is not completely gone after the water treatment, put a little lemon juice on the spot and put in the sun to bleach. Or one can use one of the chemical bleaches, such as hydrogen peroxide and sodium perborate; hydrosulphite; or javelle water.

To remove stains caused by the juice of fresh peaches, pears, and plums, use cold water and glycerine. First, sponge the stain well with cool water. Then put several drops of glycerine, or a soapless shampoo, on the stain, enough to cover it. Work in by rubbing the fabric between the hands. Let it stand for several hours, then put on a few drops of vinegar or oxalic acid. Allow it to remain for a minute or two, and then rinse well in water.

Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas for August

Washington, D. C., August 5.—While maintaining a tentative annual level of twelve billion dollars as its goal, the Treasury Department today fixed the August quota for the sale of War Bonds at $815,000,000 as shown by the accompanying map by states.

In lowering the quota from a billion dollars in July to $815,000,000 in August, the Treasury has given recognition to certain factors which may be expected to result in variations in sales over the 12-month period, such as the seasonal character of farm income, These factors have been taken into account in determining each state's share for the national quota for August and will be given consideration in fixing quotas for subsequent months.

In addition to the state quotas as set out in the map there is a federal payroll allotment quota of $9,750,000 and territorial quotas as follows: Alaska, $760,000; Canal Zone, $213,000; Hawaii, $4,600,000; Puerto Rico, $440,000, and the Virgin Islands, $17,000.
